Porter County is home to a diverse range of waterways, from the scenic Kankakee River to the vast Lake Michigan. These waters are teeming with fish, including largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, northern pike, walleye, and catfish. In addition, Porter County offers a variety of floating opportunities, from gentle floats down the Little Calumet River to more challenging rapids on the Kankakee River.

This guidebook will help you find the best fishing and floating spots in Porter County. You'll find detailed maps, insider tips, and stunning photography to help you plan your trip. We've also included information on local fishing regulations, boat launches, and campgrounds.

Fishing

Porter County is a great place to fish for a variety of species. The Kankakee River is known for its largemouth bass and smallmouth bass fishing. Lake Michigan is a great place to fish for salmon, trout, and walleye. And the Little Calumet River is a great place to fish for catfish and panfish.

When fishing in Porter County, it's important to be aware of the local fishing regulations. You can find a complete list of regulations on the Indiana Department of Natural Resources website.

Floating

Porter County offers a variety of floating opportunities, from gentle floats down the Little Calumet River to more challenging rapids on the Kankakee River. The Kankakee River is a great place to go whitewater rafting or kayaking. The Little Calumet River is a great place to go canoeing or tubing.

When floating in Porter County, it's important to be aware of the water conditions. The Kankakee River can be fast-moving and dangerous, especially during high water. The Little Calumet River is a more gentle river, but it can still be dangerous if you're not careful.

Maps and Directions

This guidebook includes detailed maps of the Kankakee River, Lake Michigan, and the Little Calumet River. You'll also find directions to boat launches and campgrounds.
